Understanding the German Way

Six Sessions to Prepare for Transacting Business
With Germans

Presented by the
CLEVELAND/BRADLEY CHAMBER OF COMMERCE
in partnership with
HÖFERLE CONSULTING

THE CLEVELAND/BRADLEY CHAMBER OF COMMERCE is partnering with HÖFERLE CONSULTING to present a series of six cross-cultural training sessions, "Understanding the German Way," to help prepare for our future German client and customer base. Our future German friends, fellow citizens and employers will bring with them different ways of doing business, different ways of leading personal lives and different perspectives on life. Many will struggle initially to adjust to the Southeast way and to the American lifestyle and work ethic.

"With Volkswagen and many of their German-speaking suppliers moving into the Tennessee Valley and with the arrival of Wacker Chemie in Bradley County just around the corner, local companies are exploring the best ways of getting into business with these new industries," Christian Höferle, workshop presenter, said.

To prepare for transacting business with the Germans, the Chamber of Commerce and Höferle Consulting will offer six individual workshops that will cover the many differences and idiosyncrasies, as well as some of the commonalities between the American and German lifestyles. Participants can choose to attend all six workshops, pick and choose different "packages," or select single sessions. Each workshop will provide valuable information that participants may adopt for their respective professional environments.

Format

The biweekly programs will take place on Wednesday mornings from 8 to 10 a.m. beginning March 24 and continuing through June 2. Each session, held in the Chamber's conference facility at the Village Green, will last no more than two hours.

The cost for Chamber members per person is $35 for single sessions, $80 for a three-session package (choose any three), and $140 for the entire six-session package.

The non-member cost per person is $60 for single sessions, $165 for a three-session package (choose any three) and $315 for the entire six-session package.
